(Eleven skriver hele teksten og markerer bagefter sine fejl)

It was pouring down with rain when Tommy Brown was on his way to the station.

He was going to a job interview.

He wanted to become a mechanic and he was looking for an apprenticeship.

His school papers were good.

He knew a lot about brakes.

He knew that there were 30 other boys for the job.

His mother had said: "Remember all I told you. A boss today's tough and he's going to ask a lot questions".
